EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Instrument and does not purport to be a legal interpretation)

These Regulations give further effect to Regulation (EU) No. 98/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council on the marketing and use of explosives precursors. (Explosives precursors are substances or mixtures which can be misused for the illicit manufacture of explosives).

The Regulations restrict the access by the general public (as defined within the EU Regulation) to certain chemical substances, of certain concentrations, by requiring a Garda Restricted Explosives Precursor Certificate for the introduction into the State, acquisition, possession or use of the substances listed in Annex I to the EU Regulation.

These Regulations outline the obligations of economic operators if intending to make these particular substances, above a certain concentration level, available to the general public.

These Regulations also require the reporting of any suspicious transactions, significant disappearances or theft of the substances listed in both Annex I and Annex II of the EU Regulation, to a designated Garda national contact point.

These Regulations set out the offences and penalties associated with a breach of these Regulations.

The Regulations come into operation on 31 December 2014.
